

02 September 2015 ~ News from TRS USA

Greetings from TRS-USA

Please be advised that we are a company that will be basing our business practices upon accurate and factual information, and will do our very best to advise our clients in a timely manner regarding product availability, prices, and related news. We believe that keeping conjecture to a minimum is best for all parties, and we will generally refrain from this somewhat common practice.

That being said, I wish to inform you that indeed, the TRS factory is coming along nicely and they expect full production of 2016 motorcycles to begin before the end of this year.

We expect to receive one new 2016 TRS motorcycle for evaluation next month or in the first weeks of November. Upon its arrival, we will feature the product; provide photos and videos and an overview in detail of the technical and performance aspects.

The first shipment of TRS motorcycles for delivery to our dealers is expected in January 2016. (Subject to unforeseen delays beyond our control) With this first shipment to arrive, we will also be receiving a large stock of spare parts so that we can supply our dealers with the materials they may require to provide good service to our USA customers.

At this time, we are confident enough in our parent company to announce the beginning of the process of taking orders for new 2016 TRS motorcycles for delivery to customers in the USA after the New Year. (All new motorcycle orders will be filled in the same order as the date they are received from our dealers)

Due to the tremendous global demand for this new brand, initial supplies will be limited as the factory fills the prior orders in all world markets.

Due to the fluctuation of currency, we have not officially announced a USA public price. We do wish to express that most certainly the new TRS motorcycles will be priced well within the range of the competitor brands. Later this fall, we will announce official pricing.

For more information or to reserve your new 2016 TRS motorcycle, you may locate and make contact with one of our official TRS USA dealers at this attached link.

I will be traveling to Spain to the TRS factory this fall and will report my findings upon my return.

Best regards in sport, Jim Snell, CEO, TRS-USA
